

TWO FACTOR AUTHENTICATION

- This feature is an additional layer of security to protect your identity.
- We urge you to use it.
- A little 'prevention' is worth more than a large amount of 'cure'.

Two-factor authentication (validating that a User is who they say they are) is an extra authentication method we've added that can be activated by a User.

We encourage all users to set this up to ensure only they can access their data (or set permissions for trusted others).

It requires the installation of Google Authenticator on your smart device and an additional backup email address needs to be configured within Now Sorted. It's very easy to do.

You give effect to these features when, having signed up for Now Sorted, you then download the Google Authenticator from your usual app source.

We cover how to do this in one of our 'How-to' videos as well as under FAQs via the 'Goodies menu on our website.
